Preview on Sewer Deal To Planners

A preview look at the proposed multi-million dollar master sewer plan for the Coachella Valley from Palm Springs to Indio was given Monday evening to the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee in a meeting at the Holiday Inn.

The meeting also was the scene of installation ceremonies for new committee officers.

Robert Theraux, representative of the Los Angeles architectural engineering firm of Koebig and Koebig, presented the plan to the committee. His firm prepared the plan in cooperation with the Riverside county planning commission. The first public hearing on it has been scheduled for a Palm Springs site in January.

Along Wash
Proposed is a trunk sewer line which would start east of Palm Springs and reach to Indio along or in the Whitewater river wash. Tentative cost for the proposed system is estimated at approximately $3 million. The tax rate of 70 cents per $100 assessed valuation to get the trunk line started and operated was another tentative figure tossed out by the engineer.

Theraux, who was brought to the meeting by county planning director Tyler Seuss, estimated that the population between—but not including—Palm Springs and Indio will be 20,000 by 1965. Other estimates included a $300 per lot cost plus $100 for hookup to the facility.

Installation
During the meeting Milton A. Hoffman, La Quinta, was installed as president. He succeeds Robert Cox. Other new officers are Jimmy Cooper, Palm Springs chamber of commerce manager, who is vice president; Barry Whittlesey, of Indio, secretary; and Col. James Westerfield, Mecca, treasurer.

New directors are Francis F. Crocker, Palm Springs; Mrs. Mina Welcome, Thousand Palms; Dr. C. J. Johnson, Indio; Richard Kite, Palm Desert; Arthur Cavanaugh, James Cox, and Clarence Washburn, Indio.

Russ Veto UN Bid for Cease-Fire

Indian Action at Goa Unhindered

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Soviet Union cast its 99th veto early today to block the Security Council from calling for a cease-fire in Goa.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said the action could lead to "the death of the United Nations."

The United States, Britain, France and Turkey had submitted a resolution calling on India to stop its attack on Goa and two other Portuguese enclaves, withdraw its troops and negotiate a settlement with Portugal in accordance with the U.N. Charter.

China, Turkey and Chile lined up with the sponsors to support the call, giving it the required seven votes for passage. Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic, voted with Russia against the call, but since Russia is a permanent member its vote served as a veto.

This same 7-4 lineup killed an Afro-Asian resolution seeking to throw out the Portuguese complaint of Indian aggression and to call on Portugal to "terminate its hostile actions" and cooperate with India in "liquidating" colonialism.

Defend Invasion
India and its supporters sought to justify the attack on the Portuguese enclaves as necessary to wipe out colonialism.

The United States and its supporters deplored the use of force for such a purpose. Stevenson spoke soberly after the Soviet veto erased possibility of council action.

"I am the only delegate, I think, at this table who was present at the birth of this organization," he said. "Tonight, we are witnessing the first act in a drama which could end with its death."

"The League of Nations died, I remind you, when its members no longer resisted the use of aggressive force."

Plane Crash Into Truck Kills 30

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—An airplane crashed into a crowd welcoming a Christmas-gift truck today.

Semi-official reports said between 25 and 30 persons were killed. As many as 130 may have been injured.

The plane was hovering over the 100-truck convoy, bringing Christmas packages to victims of a flood that left about 8,000 persons homeless here last month.

Then it hit a power line and crashed into the crowd.

Witnesses said the area of the accident was "covered with dead and injured."

The Seville civil governor announced that the accident had "numerous victims."

The semi-official news agency Cifra, said three hours after the accident that there were "more than 20 dead and about 70 injured."

Other reports, from hospitals and first aid stations around the city, indicated that as many as 30 persons may have died and that 120 others had been hospitalized.

The pilot of the plane and his passenger were known to have died in the crash.

The convoy had come from Madrid bringing Christmas cheer to this city which suffered a disastrous flood Nov. 27. About 8,000 persons were left homeless by the high water.

Lost in Mountains Cold Time for Adolph Family

By ED BARNUM

After spending most of their life in South and Central America, the Adolph children had never seen snow. Last Sunday, Dr. William Adolph and his wife, Vida, decided to show their four sons and nephew what real snow looked and felt like.

The five boys' introduction to winter weather turned out to be a lesson in survival. The family became marooned on the Santa Rosa mountains.

"After going as far as we could in our four-wheel drive car, we stopped for a picnic dinner. I wasn't familiar with winter driving and at 5 p.m. when we started down, the snow had frozen and the Scout just couldn't make the heavy banks," the doctor reported.

"I located two large rocks and built a fire, with extra gasoline and some dry wood that we had with us. Using some sheet plastic I had purchased to enclose my back porch, we made a lean-to that protected us from the wind."

"Before going up the mountain we had tried to purchase a toboggan or sled in Palm Springs but couldn't find one, so we ended up with four metal discs, called Snow-go's. The children spent most of their time sliding down the hill and Mrs. Adolph and I spent our time drying them out at the fire."

Search Starts Sunday
When the family hadn't returned home by 8 p.m., Sunday, Mrs. Victoria Adolph of 962 Parocela Drive, Palm Springs, the doctors' mother, contacted the sheriff's department. She also called her other son, Alfred Adolph in Wrightwood.

Adolph, a fire pilot with the Riverside Aircraft Company, contacted his boss and got permission to use one of the company's planes in the search.

Knowing the approximate location of the family jaunt, he started flying a search pattern at dawn. Because of the location of the fire in the rocks and the blowing snow, a fire fighter reported.

Army Mobilized To 'Liberate' Occupied Area

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—President Sukarno ordered the armed forces today to prepare to "liberate" West Irian Dutch New Guinea. He spoke of ordering "total mobilization" in Indonesia to attain this goal.

Sukarno, speaking to an estimated 1.5 million Indonesians here, issued a "final command" to his people to raise the Indonesian flag over West Irian, taking control of the Dutch possession in the Pacific.

He expressed thanks to supporters of his campaign, "particularly socialist countries"—apparently meaning the Communist states of Europe and Asia.

"Some people accuse us of being too friendly with socialist countries, but they are assisting us and we are grateful," Sukarno said.

Sets No Date
Unofficial sources in Jakarta said Sukarno's long-heralded speech was milder than they had expected. They pointed out that he set no date for "liberation" of the Dutch territory, nor did he say exactly how he expected the Indonesian flag to be raised there.

The Indonesian leader called on the natives of West Irian to side with Indonesia by defeating Dutch efforts to give them their own state.

The island of New Guinea is divided into two sections. The Dutch section in the west, closest to Indonesia, includes the forbidding coastal section where Michael Rockefeller, youngest son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, was lost last month while on a primitive art expedition. The other part of the island is administered by Australia and is not in conflict.

Zone Change Up Tonight
The city council will consider final action on the Biltmore Hotel's change of zone application from G-R, guest ranch, to R-3 and R-2, hotel and limited multiple dwelling, during the meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m. today in the city council chambers.

Other agenda items include consideration of the proposed construction and lease arrangements by the city for the Department of Motor Vehicles building, and a lease agreement with Riverside county for a new county building. The DMV building will face El Cielo, on a parcel south of McCallum Way. The county building is planned for parcel on the southwest corner of McCallum Way and El Cielo. The motor vehicles building will include approximately 2,000 square feet, to be constructed at an estimated $42,000 cost.

Washington (UPI)—President Kennedy, appeared rested after a 24-hour stopover in Florida, returned to Washington today for a meeting with the National Security Council and preparations for his Bermuda meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The President's jet landed at Washington's National Airport after the two-hour flight from Florida.

By United Press International
Polar air stabbed into Texas and Kentucky today and snow was falling from the Pacific Northwest to the Great Lakes. Floods left nearly 2,000 persons homeless in the deep South.

Precipitation in one form or another was the rule in all but the desert Southwest and even there mountain areas reported snow.

Washington (UPI)—Indonesia today asked the United States for help in mediating its dispute with the Netherlands over West New Guinea "so that a physical conflict will become unnecessary."

Indonesian Ambassador Zairan Zain said in an interview that "we hope the United States will try to find a solution that is mutually satisfactory."

Public Hearings Set by Planners

Public hearings on three applications for filling stations on North Palm Canyon Drive and roadway discussions will highlight the city planning commission meeting which begins in the council chambers at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

First hearing will be on the application of Mrs. Sally Stevens Nichols for a change of zone from R-3, hotel and apartment district, to C-2 general commercial, and application for a conditional use permit for a gasoline service station on North Palm Canyon Drive at the proposed Tramway Access Road.

Second service station application is by Bud Libbott for a conditional use permit for a station at the southwest corner of San Marco Way and North Palm Canyon Drive. The third application for a service station conditional use permit to be heard will be from the MEF Land Co. for a station at the intersection of Yorba Road and North Palm Canyon Drive.

The commission will see maps of a suggested direct Palm Springs

Desert Hot Springs route northward from El Cielo to Palm Drive, and the planning department revision of recommendations of the county planners for a service road diagonally southeast through Palm Springs from Highway 111. The proposed revision would extend eastward across the north edge of the city, and curve southward to Highway 111 east of the Palm Springs Airport.

A continued hearing is set for 3 p.m. on the application of Richard Brown and Alfred Peter Siva, for a new zone from R-1a, single lot, to a T, trailer zone, for land on the east side of South Palm Canyon Drive, north of the extension of Laverne Way into South Palm Canyon Drive.

Old business will include the application by James E. Dyer for approval of a resubdivision of lot 1 in the Venable tract, and an application by Dorothy Blackman for a change of zone from R-1a to R-2, limited multiple family for lot 17 in the Palos Verde Tract, at 145 Mesquite Avenue. The commission will conduct a field trip at 1 p.m. on the Dyer and Blackman applications.

Salk Suits Approval Refused

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Superior Judge Clyde C. Triplett Monday refused to approve one settlement and sent three other cases to Calendar Court for a new trial in suits stemming from parties crippled by a faulty batch of Salk Polio vaccine.

The judge refused to approve a $40,000 settlement with Cutter Laboratories, manufacturers of the vaccine, for Lee Daryl Bowser, 16, Pomona.

Judge Triplett said he did not feel "a fair settlement" was being made in the case and told attorneys representing all four families that medical reports and financial statements should be seen before any financial approval is made.

Bowser had originally filed a damage suit for $150,000 for injuries brought by the vaccine Deborah Marks, 11, of Riverside, originally filed for $350,000 damages on July 12, 1957; Raymond Nelson, 8, La Puente, filed for $500,000 on May 29, 1959; and Candace Ann Cummings, 11, La Canada, who filed for $150,000 on March 3, 1960.

Silver Weighed, Forks Missing

Nick Kamin, a coordinator for the Riviera Hotel, reported to police Monday that his people weighed the silverware and came up short.

The weight shortage indicated that approximately 650 cocktail forks are missing, Kamin said. The forks had been kept in an unlocked silver pantry off the Mediterranean Room.

Investigating officers reported the missing forks may have been lost, strayed, stolen, or misplaced. Meanwhile, the search is one for $160 worth of the tiny prongs.

Flying a World War II torpedo Alfred made three message drops in all. He had used up the regular message containers and ended up using his red tee shirt and cloth maps to make the drops.

The sheriff's rescue party was unable to reach the stranded party because of snow-blocked roads. Alfred contacted Don Landells, the chief pilot for United Helicopters, Inc., who is flying supplies in for the Mt. San Jacinto Tramway project. Landells flew a helicopter to the rescue of the family and carried it out one at a time to Pinon Flats, where sheriff's deputies were waiting to carry them down the mountain.

Bomb Test Stronger Than Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scientists said today the explosion of a nuclear bomb in a New Mexican salt bed Dec. 10 produced far stronger earth waves than expected and was detected as far away as Finland, Sweden, and Japan.

The explosion was an experiment in peaceful uses of atomic violence. Seismologists, students of energy waves transmitted through the earth by quakes and other big blasts, used the experiment called project Gnome as an opportunity for research in detection of underground nuclear tests.

Leonard H. Murphy, chief seismologist of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, said the results to date have been extremely fruitful and revive hope that it may be possible to distinguish between explosions and quakes by the kind of waves they generate.

The big surprise was the strength of the seismic signals from the New Mexican shot. It was set off 1,200 feet under the ground in a salt bed 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad. The device was estimated to be equal in power to 5,000 tons of TNT.

Scientists had calculated that an explosion in salt would transmit three times less energy than one in volcanic tuff, the rock formation in which underground tests usually are staged in Nevada.

Actually, the Gnome shot poured far more energy into the earth than similar explosions staged in the past in Nevada. The Gnome waves were detected by distant stations which picked up no signals at all from the five-kiloton Logan shot detonated underground at the desert site Oct. 16, 1958.

This comparative increase in energy, instead of the expected decrease, "flabbergasted everybody," Murphy said.

All of the stations, according to Murphy, picked up compressional first waves from the Gnome explosion which theory says should distinguish blasts from quakes. Results of underground shots in 1958 had cast doubt on this theory.

First Baby of Princess Christened While Crying

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret's first baby, crying out from time to time, was christened David Albert Charles today in the same white silk lace gown that Queen Victoria's children wore more than 100 years ago.

In the quiet family ceremony at Buckingham Palace, court sources said, the 6-week-old boy's aunt, Queen Elizabeth, was named his chief godparent.

The others, generally unknown to the British public, were all close—and highly regarded—friends of Margaret's. None among them was from the gay Mayfair set that Margaret and her husband, the former Antony Armstrong-Jones, knew in their younger days.

Only close members of the royal family watched the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, sprinkle little Lord Linley's head with water specially brought from the River Jordan for the occasion.

They included the queen's husband, Prince Philip, who hours earlier dashed away from a speaking engagement in London saying, "I've got to go to a christening."

Others were David's grandmother, Queen Mother Elizabeth; Prince Andrew, 1 year, Princess Anne, 11, and Prince Charles, 13, who was permitted to leave Cheam School on Christmas holidays earlier than the other boys today to attend the christening.

Hike for Angel View Tomorrow

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Paul Dunn, the "walking Marine" and his dog, Explorer I, will repeat last year's cross-country hike for Angel View Crippled Children Foundation, in Desert Hot Springs.

The sergeant climaxed last year's Teen Angel campaign with his hike from this Hi-Desert community to Desert Hot Springs collecting money for the AVCC organization.

Dunn has labeled this year's walk as "Trek for Tykes" and will start at the Marine Corps Base on Wednesday and will arrive at the foundation on Christmas Eve.

He has estimated the distance to be traveled as 100 miles.

The sergeant and his dog will make stops in Twentynine Palms, Sunfair, Joshua Tree, Paradise Valley, Yucca Valley, Palm Wells and Morongo Valley before cutting cross-country over the rugged Joshua Tree National Monument to Desert Hot Springs.

A native of Dorchester, Mass., Dunn started walking as a hobby when he was in high school. Since arriving at the Marine Base he has perfected his hiking technique to the point where he spends almost every weekend hiking in the mountains and desert with his dog.

The dog, a part shepherd and part coyote, has a special pack and harness, developed by the sergeant, that enables the dog to carry food, water and emergency equipment. Dunn said that the animal will carry about 30 pounds of supplies and water to supplement the sergeant's pack on this trip.

Druggists Want Patents Laws Left Unchanged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spokesmen for the nation's druggists lined up with drug manufacturers today in opposing any modification of patent laws which give discoverers of new medicines an exclusive 17-year right to make them.

The 32,000-member American Pharmaceutical Association agreed with contentions by drug manufacturers that tinkering with the patent system would dampen research incentives and retard the development of more effective prescription products.

Relaxation of patent monopolies is a key feature in legislation proposed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn. Kefauver contends his bill would inject more competition into the drug-making industry and drive prices down.

James Crowe will relinquish the presidency of the Palm Springs Kiwanis Club to his successor, Robert McWhirter, with installation rites to be conducted tonight at Holiday Inn.

Installing officers and special guests at the banquet will include John Phillips, past Lt. Governor; John Milor, 1961 Lt. Governor, and Fred A. Phillip, 1962 Lt. Governor.

Taking office with McWhirter will be Tom Pollock and Ray Lockwood, vice presidents; William Maidhof, treasurer; Dr. George Milkie, secretary. Crowe, as immediate past president, will continue as an officer for 1962.

During the last year McWhirter and Pollock served Crowe as vice presidents; Lockwood was treasurer, Milkie, secretary. Thurman Arnold, current past president, leaves office.

Prison Killings Bring Orders From Gov. Brown

SAN QUENTIN (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has ordered a first-hand look at San Quentin state prison following the fatal stabbings of three inmates within a week.

Thomas Devers, 24, a convict involved in an $18,000 narcotics-smuggling ring inside the prison, was knifed to death Monday. His death followed similar slayings last week.

Associate Warden W. D. Achuff said the outbreak of stabbings was the worst in years. He said prison authorities "obviously have a strong suspicion that the slaying of Devers was connected with the narcotics smuggling case." But he added as yet "we don't have any proof."

Christmas Decorations Found, Victim Missing

Palm Springs police, with the help of an observant citizen, located some missing Christmas decoration lights Monday — but they now have a victim to find.

Officers revealed that four juveniles, ranging in age from 12 to 15 years, were contacted after a member of the D. D. Paul household caught one. Paul told police his outdoor Christmas tree was missing decorations, and his son stayed outdoors on the lookout for possible repeat performances of the petty thefts.

One youngster did return to the scene, and his story implicated three associates. The youngsters subsequently revealed a place

Demonstrators Seeking President Kennedy Help

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Negro integration leaders who saw nearly 300 anti-segregation demonstrators arrested in 30 minutes Monday night sought the help and protection of President Kennedy today for another nighttime protest march.

The Negroes said they would try to march downtown at the evening rush hour during the Christmas shopping season even if they were not given a parade permit by city officials.

Police arrested 290 Negroes and two whites Monday on charges of parading without a permit on Canal Street. The marchers, mostly students from Southern and Dillard universities, were scheduled to appear in City Court late this afternoon. They faced maximum fines of $100 and 90 days in jail if convicted.

Police moved quickly on the demonstrators as they marched toward the state office building here in a protest, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), against mass arrests of anti-segregationists in Baton Rouge last week.

The Rev. Avery Alexander, chairman of the (Negro) Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, said his group did not expect to receive a parade permit for tonight because it usually takes several days to process.

Groucho Ends Retirement

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Groucho Marx is leaving retirement after less than a year to return to the television wars with a new show.

As of Jan. 11 the most famous of the Marx Brothers will star in "Tell It to Groucho," a mélange of humor, information and outrageous advice to the frustrated.

The new program is best explained by newspaper advertisements in the Los Angeles area. They read:

"Would you like to be a contestant on the new Groucho Marx show?"

"Are you an inventor needing backing?"

"Have you got a great idea?"

"Have you got a great complaint?"

"Have you an unusual hobby or talent?"

"Do some of our laws need changing?"

You can see Groucho sharpening his barbs for the witless souls who come to him for on-the-air counseling.

Is This Help?

"Basically, I'll be trying to help people with their problems," Groucho said with a wicked gleam in his eye. "My solutions will probably be as wacky as their situations."

"Some of the guests will be well known. For instance Vincent Price takes part in one show discussing modern art—which to me is the biggest fake in history."

"Another guy is famous for painting pictures with a basket of worms. He turns the worms loose on a canvas covered with dirt and paint. Then he sells the pictures for as much as $1,000 each. Can you imagine calling something like that art?"

Groucho said he will try to provide controversy as well as laughs on the half-hour series, and will bring people to Hollywood from all over the country. "I'm doing something entirely different from the old show," he added.

Old Friends Gone

"We've discarded the secret word, the quiz, the duck, Grant's Tomb and Fenniman."

"The show is a clearing house, a sounding board for people with opinions, hare-brained schemes and troubles. If we can't straighten them out they may be beyond help."

Groucho is moving from the NBC network to CBS, which could prove to be fatal.

His opposition in the Thursday night time slot is "Dr. Kildare" and "My Three Sons," a pair of runaway hits this season.

"I may be off the air in six weeks," Groucho observed complacently. "And I really don't care. I laid off for three months and I'm beginning to like it."

"The only reason I'm going back to work is to keep my organization busy. It's a heck of a reason, I admit. But I can't truthfully say I am returning because I need the money."

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—

The next time you sit down with strangers for a hand of bridge, keep your eye on the dealer because he may be one of tens of thousands of card cheats in the country.

That advice comes from 55-year-old Michael (Mickey) MacDougall, internationally-recognized gambling detective who warns: "Trust your friends but cut the cards."

MacDougall, a short, sandy-haired resident of Forest Hills, N.Y., displayed his card wizardry to members of the Charleston chapter of the Associated Dinner Club. His agile hands had three volunteer participants in a show of "mental telepathy" scratching their heads.

MacDougall, who likes to call himself "the gambler who doesn't gamble," spends about half his time picking up evidence of card and dice cheating for the Nevada Gaming Control Board.

He said his evidence recently put out of business one gambling house in Las Vegas, which he pronounces "lost wages." And out there, "that's like losing a license to cheat," he said.

Clears Business Man

In another recent trial in Nevada, MacDougall said, his knowledge of how cheaters crimp six or eight high cards in a deck cleared a wealthy San Francisco business man who had been suspected of cheating.

MacDougall said that most of the big-time cheating is done at bridge. "And a lot of it is done by mobs on transatlantic cruises and in the big hotels," he said.

He then gave a convincing demonstration of how a couple of innocent bridge players can be taken by a cheat working "single-o"—by himself—or with a confederate. He opened a sealed deck of cards, shuffled them a few times while talking to the audience and promptly dealt himself a six-no-trump hand.

To make it even more convincing, he let a volunteer deal the next hand but the result was the same. During a demonstration of draw-poker cheating, MacDougall dealt himself four aces—or four of anything—several times.

"It's nothing but a lot of trickery," he said as he showed how he stacked decks, palmed cards and dealt from top, center or bottom at will.

Recalls Card Tricks

MacDougall credited his vaudeville card trick sessions with get-

Lion Snapped, But Not Blamed

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — David Gray, 27, said Sunday a lion snapped off a portion of his left index finger but the animal was not to blame.

He said he walked up to the lion's cage at a gas station and fell over his unbuckled overalls, throwing himself up against the bars.

The sleeping lion jumped up and bit the top of his finger off, Gray said.

"Now everybody's going to blame the lion," he said. "Gosh, it wasn't her fault. I was the stupid one."

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

Tuesday, December 19, 1961
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until "noon" be sure that you do avoid upsetting the appellation of present conditions and make a point also to show that you are willing to use self-control, even though much provoked by others. Then the P. M. is certainly the time when you are able to handle whatever arises in an ingenious and inventive fashion. Keep ahead of trouble. Be prepared.

ARIES (Birthdays from Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—Monetary affairs must necessarily come before pleasure in A. M. However, later in the day you can still carry through with fun and new ideas without losing any of the security you now enjoy. Spending foolishly is just a habit.

TAURUS (Birthdays from Apr. 20 to May 20)—This morning many problems may break into the open, but you can take them in your stride. Later is fine for self-analysis and removing any flaws. Then step out tonight for a good time socially with charming people. Be gay.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21)—A morning when you feel quite frustrated, but if you sit back a while and watch the methods of others, you will soon be inspired to labor efficiently yourself. Then be sure the right people take notice of your fine talents in P. M.

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21)—Be kind and understanding with an associate who is upset, not critical. Evening is then ideal for entertainment you most enjoy, as well as having quiet confidential talks with persons who can be helpful to you.

LEO (Birthdays from July 22 to Aug. 21)—If you are not the soul of decorum this morning, you can easily lose prestige with higher-ups. The rest of the day and evening are then ideal for planning how to reach your most cherished goals more quickly and efficiently.

VIRGO (Birthdays from Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Every opportunity is yours now to find the right philosophy under which to operate in the future so that you have far greater success. Listen to the suggestions of close ties in P. M. and insure security for all.

LIBRA (Birthdays from Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Guard your words well or you can get into trouble with an important higher-up, which you will regret later. Late afternoon and evening are fine for making new arrangements with good friends.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Rather than get upset over the methods partners are using, cooperate with them quietly in A. M. and let them take the consequences. Do whatever is necessary tonight to improve conditions with loved ones. Be kind, thoughtful.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Although you have a gnawing private worry, don't voice it this A. M., and be sure you act cheerful. Find the associates later who understand your ideas and can help you to commercialize on them. Have dinner out in P. M.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—While it may be a bit difficult to do your work in A. M., if you do not lose your temper, all will work out well. Make it a point tonight to get together with co-workers and discuss how to make the future more profitable.

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Steer clear this morning of an irate member of your clan who is temporarily upset. However, you can accomplish a great deal in the outside world of activity and tonight is ideal for increasing popularity at social affairs.

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Important you drive most carefully in A. M. if you are to get the benefits that are possible. Also, be helpful to associates who are not feeling well or are upset in some way. Get everything improved at abode this evening.

If Your Child Is Born Today, He, or she, will be one of those wonderfully dynamic people who can get into a peck of trouble because of a truly phenomenal temper, if you don't early give the right sports and activities to let off all this extra steam. The greater writer or salesperson is definitely in this chart, so be very sure to slant the education along such lines for greatest success.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to "you!"

Ted Smith, program chairman for the Realty Board, has indicated a $1 Christmas gift exchange will be held at the meeting with music, singing and fun to complete the enjoyment.

New president Lake has already made some committee appointments, and plan to complete the list by the Dec. 28 meeting.

Already named are Harry Holt as membership chairman; Helen T. ## Pay Raise in California For Over 600,000 Jan. 1

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—For more than 600,000 Californians, Jan. 1 will automatically bring a raise in pay.

But chances are they won't spend it foolishly. Individually, it will amount to a few dollars a month although collectively it will total more than $8 million a month.

These are the people receiving welfare aid, substantially liberalized by the 1961 legislature with the urging of Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Most of them are aged. Many are blind. Many are disabled.

For the taxpayer of California, it will boost the total welfare bill to nearly a billion dollars a year.

Take the hypothetical case of John Doe, who is more than 65 years old and can't support himself. He has been getting $96 a month but effective Jan. 1 he can get $101. But if he has special needs, like a special diet, he can get up to $166 a month. There are 250,000 of these persons.

If Mr. Doe is blind, he has been getting $115 a month in so-called "basic" aid. He'll start getting $117.80, two dollars more from the state and 80 cents from the federal government. He can also get up to $167.80 if he has special needs. He's among 15,000.

Should he be among 15,000 totally disabled, Mr. Doe has been getting an average $88 a month. He will start averaging $99 a month although he could get up to $106.

But assume Mr. Doe needs hospital care. Then he comes under provisions of a new federal-state-

STUFFED TOYS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many of the stuffed toys on this year's Christmas market are made of a new material, Sherpa, which is mothproof, mildewproof and non-allergenic.

A woven fabric made of Cretan acrylic fiber, the pile has a curly texture much like that of a shearling lamb. It can be machine washed and tumble-dried without losing its softness or color.

HOME PROJECT

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (UPI)—The government has begun a model home project here as the start of a long-range program to rid this capital city of the Virgin Islands of slum-blighted areas. The pre-fabricated, three-bedroom homes, built on lots of 3,000 square feet, are being offered for less than $10,000 on a 25-year payment plan.

Caravansary for Festival Readied

INDIO—Visitors at the 16th annual Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival at Indio, Feb. 16 through 25, will be able to dine in the new $140,000 Caravansary, according to R. M. C. "Bob" Fullenwider, manager of the mid-winter event.

The new edifice, a cafeteria, will seat 260 inside with an additional 150 on the outdoor terrace.

Of modern Moorish design, the architectural firm of Herman O. Ruhnau of Riverside has spent eight years in research to design various structures on the exotic Arabian fairgrounds.

The building will be in hues of orange and tan with gold accents, with a "Moorish mushroom" highlighting the front entrance.

This was the major improvement to the fairgrounds this year. A new arena seating 5,000 will be on the 1963 schedule.

Re-painting and general repairs are done annually according to the needs, under the supervision of maintenance foreman Reginald Diaz, who also oversees all landscaping.

This year lawn planting began Oct. 1 and will continue until the first of the year. Flowers to be bedded are snapdragons, stocks, pansies and petunias, with a complete new landscaping slated for the Caravansary upon its completion Jan. 5 when the Arabian Pageant cast will begin using the building for rehearsals.

 No local tax money is used to operate or improve the county fairgrounds, Fullenwider pointed out. The money is all derived from the fair's own revenue from space, admissions and entry fees.
 He continued, "This income is supplemented by periodic allocations from the State Department of Finance, which funds come from state tax on wagering at major horserace tracks."

WE'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU! EVERY DODGE COSTS LESS THAN LAST YEAR

The 1962 Dodge is entirely new. And thanks to new materials and improved production techniques, we've been able to reduce prices as much as $71 less than last year's comparable model. Now you can buy a full-size Dodge for less than a Ford or Chevrolet. (See box at right.)

In '62, we practically eliminated dead weight. Our automatic transmission housing for V8s used to be cast iron, now it's aluminum. It is stronger and lighter by 60 pounds. One result: much greater performance. Fantastic performance, in fact.

A 1962 Dodge Dart will accelerate 7% faster than last year's comparable model. And with less dead weight on the front wheels plus a new low-friction steering gear, it is just about the easiest handling full-size car you've ever driven.

Other things you'll like: smaller floor hump and more leg room; chair-high seats; a rustproofed body; self-adjusting brakes and 32,000 miles between grease jobs. Now, drive the vital new breed of Dodge. Newest entry in the low price field.

HERE'S HOW DODGE PRICES STACK UP AGAINST THE LOWEST PRICE MODELS OF OTHER FULL-SIZE CARS

Debs Hold Holiday Ball

One of the prettiest of the holiday affairs was the fourth annual Deb Dance held in the Mediterranean Room of the Riviera Hotel, with the Debs and their escorts enjoying an evening of dancing and each Deb receiving her pin.

Highlight of the affair came at the intermission, when each Deb, in turn, was escorted to the stage by her father, or another relative or friend, to receive the pin that signifies she is a Palm Springs Deb. The spotlight followed each couple as they went onto the stage to be presented by Mayor Frank Bogert.

Immediately after the pinning ceremony came the impressive father-daughter dance.

The Debs, lovely in their long formal gowns, and their dinner-jacketed escorts danced to the music of a Pat Barbara orchestra, with Bobby Ramos and his orchestra coming over from the Ranch Club to play some cha cha chas.

Glittering silver letters spelled out "Palm Springs Debs" against the golden curtain, and a huge replica of the Deb pin hung over the stage. Joan McManus had brought over the big red silken lanterns from the Tennis Club and these were hung above the dance floor.

The two long refreshment tables, that stood at each end of the dance floor, were centered with green holly Christmas trees, with lighted tapers, and Christmas cookies were served with punch, red in one bowl and green in the other, courtesy of Irwin Schuman.

Arriving Debs and their escorts and their parents were greeted by a receiving line that included Deb Patronesses Mmes. Lester Selig, Walter McManus, Robert Backstrom, Carl Schoons and George Berkey and Debs' Honorary Advisor Hildy Crawford. Co-chairmen of the Ball were Mrs. Selig and Mrs. McManus.

Speaking for the sponsoring organization, the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, Cliff Brown who founded the Debs seven years ago, related the history of the organization and how the Deb Ball started four years ago. He introduced Hildy Crawford, originator of the Deb Ball, the Patronesses and their husbands, Honorary Deb Mrs. Austin Mc-

Manus, High School Principal Austin Sellery and his wife.

Two memberships in the North Shore Beach & Yacht Club were given away, one to Cheryl Blythe and one to John Shuman. Another door prize, of a dinner for four at the Tennis Club, was given to Tom Sills. This prize was awarded by Mrs. McManus.

Graves' Renaissance Porcelains Shown

Around 200 invited guests attended the premiere showing of the new Renaissance porcelains by artist O.E.L. Graves. The murals in the Camellia Room at the Tennis Club had been covered with gold foil paper, that provided a brocade background for the paintings that are oils done on wood, with a high glaze finish that gives a porcelain effect.

Around 35 paintings were in the show. Some had been borrowed back from their owners, and many of the others carried a "Sold" card before the show's end.

Delightfully and fancifully done, with a Renaissance feeling, many of the paintings are in pastels, and one that attracted particular attention was the portrait of the recent bride, Carol Malouf Johnson. Another was of the artist's wife, Vie, who is a frequent model for her talented husband. Several paintings were madonna-like, and there were a series of musical paintings with the harp, the harpsichord, violin and piano.

The collection was a considerable change from the abstracts for which this artist is noted, and even from the sculptured paintings which won him acclaim in his New York showings. Enthralled at the new art form, the crowd lingered late, sipping champagne punch and eggnog.

Lending a holiday motif to the Camellia Room was the white flocked Christmas tree, spiraled with strips of the gold foil and decked with golden balls of varying sizes.

The party was given by Mrs. Cyrilla Holland and Mrs. Harry Chaddock, with Mrs. William Crawford substituting for Mrs. Chaddock, who was in Chicago.

Guests included: Messrs. and Mmes. Harold Hicks, Phil Regan, Ralph Kiner, James Abernathy, S. P. Manasse, Ernest Alschuler, Glenn Austin, John Luccareni, Richard Bagdasarian, George Barrett, Herbert Carpenter, Harry Clatworthy, Frank Bering, Earl Cordrey, Jack Lambert, Von Hall, Dick Edwards, Irwin W. Eisenberg, Joseph Hutchins, Kay Karahadian, Jack Meiselman, Eddie LeBaron, Carl Leserman, Asher Levy, William B. Malouf, Sterling Palling, Gar Moore, Joseph Shapiro, Walter Sibbert, A. R. Simon, Norman Waters, George Wheeler.

Also: Drs. and Mmes. Franz Alexander, B. H. Poliak, Kenneth Grow, Samuel Salinger, Mmes. William Powell, Rothbart, Buster Collier, George Dulany, Earl Buckingham, Harry Joe Brown, Jolie Gabor de Szigethy, Sydney Schiff, James French, Kenneth Kirk, Austin McManus, Walter McManus, Commander and Mrs. Maurice Horner, Edwin Silverman and daughter Susie, Jimmy Morton, Bill Anderson and others.

Tau Sigma and Husbands Have Christmas Party

A white frosted Christmas tree adorned in blue was the focal point of the evening as members of Tau Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, gathered with their husbands for their annual Christmas party. This year's party was held at the gaily decorated Parkmead Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hilborn.

Various dips and hot hors d'oeuvres were served during the cocktail hour with carols furnishing appropriate background music. A bountiful buffet supper followed with ham, meat balls, assorted salads, baked beans and relishes being topped off with a deep dish French apple pie.

The guests then assembled around the tree for the distribution of gifts which found the members receiving many lovely presents from their secret sisters. Each husband was the recipient of a "gag" gift, which included such interesting items as a pacifier and a giant tooth brush. Late evening dancing completed the festivities.

Among those attending were: Dr. and Mrs. George Milkie and Messrs. and Mmes. Leighton Nugent, Neil Hubbard, Terrance Roach, Fred Weigel, Frank Hicks, JR. Wahlberg, J. Allen Stone, Mel Crowell and Milton Jones.

The fuzz balls on sweaters can be removed by brushing with a dry sponge.

Panhellenic Luncheon Is Christmasy

A holiday glow pervaded the Ranch Club when Panhellenic held its annual Christmas party there with Charles Irwin, noted actor, on the program. Logs burned in the big fireplace and the head table was decorated with lighted tapers and pine boughs and cones which Mrs. Randall Henderson had brought down from their Idyllwild lodge. Each member and guest received a sprig of desert holly as a Christmas corsage.

Panhellenic President Mrs. Gerald Fostvedt welcomed the luncheon group which included around 65 members and guests.

Irwin, who is known and loved by people all over the world for his many performances on stage, screen and television, entertained his audience with jokes and anecdotes in his own inimitable fashion. He and Mrs. Irwin, who was also a guest, were introduced by Mrs. Arnold Rumwell, program chairman.

Hostesses for the day were Mmes. Cornelius Maffie, Randall Henderson and Leland Yost.

Out-of-town members in attendance were Mme. Ted Frost of Beaumont, Mrs. William A. Morse of Laguna Beach, Mrs. L. V. Willets, Mrs. Garv D. Hunter and Mrs. John H. Lollar III of Twenty-nine Palms.

The next meeting will be held at the Shadow Mountain Club on Jan. 11, with Pi Beta Phi as hostesses. The program will feature Mrs. Roger Williams and her harp.

Club Program Combines Music And Flowers

Mrs. Leon Snyder delivered a musical program and Mrs. Elizabeth Cochran gave a demonstration of flower arranging, when the Cathedral City Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the Town Hall, with Mrs. Allen Stone presiding.

Mrs. Snyder, who has taught music since she was a teen-ager, played several numbers on the piano and concluded the program with "White Christmas."

Mrs. Cochran, who studied with the Rudolph School of Color Consulting and Design, offered ideas on how to manage and care for flowers, and showed how artificial flower arrangements could complement a home's decor.

Gifts will be exchanged by club members at their next meeting, which will be a Christmas Party held at Holiday Inn on Dec. 20. Mrs. J. R. Andrews and Mrs. E. V. Critchfield will be hostesses.

Rebekahs to Host Meeting For District

DECEMBER BRIDE is Mrs. H. Floyd Hamilton II, the former Linda Irene Swanson of Alhambra. The groom is the son of Mrs. Kay L. Mashburn of Palm Springs and H. F. Hamilton Sr. of Newhall. (Kathryn Novak Photo)

Linda Irene Swanson Weds Floyd Hamilton

H. Floyd Hamilton II, son of Mrs. Kay L. Mashburn of Palm Springs and H. F. Hamilton Sr. of Newhall, exchanged wedding vows with Linda Irene Swanson, daughter of the Ernest T. Swansons of Alhambra, during an evening ceremony at Oneonta Congregational Church in South Pasadena.

The bride's full-skirted beau de soie gown fell to a chapel train and its fitted bodice and scooped neckline were accented with beaded Alencon lace. She wore an illusion veil which was caught to a beaded Juliet cap and carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

Sister of the groom Pamela Mashburn acted as maid of honor and wore red velvet, as did the bridesmaids, Jill Ericsmoen, Patti Foos and Mrs. E. B. Glenn.

Junior bridesmaids Rinda Lou Bates and flower girls Leslie and Susan Bates, all cousins to the bride, wore white silk organza with a red velvet sash.

The bridesmaids carried white spider chrysanthemums, holly and greenery with silver wheat. The flower girls carried white basket filled with white petals. John Peterson, of Nashville, acted as best man to his cousin and ushers were Fred DeLuca Jr., Ralph McGookin, Lee Reem, and E. B. Glenn. Roger Bates, the bride's cousin, acted as ring bearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and Dr. Charles Leonard Copenhagen officiated.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the South Pasadena Woman's Club.

A member of Chi Omega Sorority, the bride is a graduate of Alhambra High School and the University of California at Los Angeles.

The bridegroom was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta and attended Kent State University and UCLA.

Following a honeymoon in Acapulco and Mexico City, the newlyweds will be at home in Brentwood.

Around Town

with Hildy Crawford

Christmas lights gleamed on the desert shrubbery in the front yard and a bowing Santa Claus greeted arriving guests as Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robbin entertained at their annual holiday party at their Aliso Road home.

Inside too, the house was beautifully decorated in the holiday mood, with a jeweled Christmas tree by Mary Noel and other ornaments. Spotlights in the pool house were a charming Christmas lighting by Helen Abernathy.

The Santos-catered dinner featured turkey and dressing and baked beans made from the hostess' own private recipe.

There was dancing to a four-piece orchestra that prolonged the gala evening.

Among the guests were: Messrs. and Mmes. Glenn Austin, George Berley, Frank Bogert, Willard Brown, Richard Bagdasarian, William B. Malouf, S. P. Manasse, George Wheeler, Earl Henderson, Earl Cordrey, James Abernathy and the Count and Countess Pedrazzini.

An old-fashioned green Christmas tree, decorated with lights and colored baubles, set the holiday theme for what the hostess termed a "vaddy informal" party given by Ruth and Lou Manseau at their Thunderbird home.

TV in Review

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—"Trick or Treason" was a spy story that had everything but the poison ring. And still it failed.
It had a Nazi general who was bald and who hissed. The dialogue mentioned agent J-26 and X-2. It had agents and double agents, war plans, real and phony. It had romance. It had a dentist's drill that doubled as a microphone. Can't you hear the spy say, "Look, ma, no cavalry?" But topping it all off, it had Monique Van Va-Va Vooren in the role of the spy. Sexy spy, that is.
Why didn't it work out? I'd say the "DuPont Show of the Week" drama on NBC-TV spent too much time getting the fat into the frying pan and then telling us not to worry because no one would really get burned.
The story dealt with a secret Allied counter-intelligence plan which made use of a German spy Monique Van Vooren in the tenuous D-Day invasion plan to Berlin in World War II. Martin Gabel, my favorite mechanical man, portrayed Martin Di Luca, the civilian OSS director of the operation. He was his usual impeccable self.
Leon Tokatyan's script diluted suspense at an alarming rate. It also set forth too many incredible touches. For men trained to be security-sensitive, the chaps in "Trick or Treason" seemed determined to spill the beans at every turn.
I suppose I should also mention that the London of 1944 came out looking like the glamor capital of the world. The women were sporting the Jackie Kennedy look.
Anyhow, a spy story that could have been a rouser missed because it was all made too obvious. There were no surprises at all. I take that back. One surprise—Miss Van Vooren. She handled her role with skill.
I think little Ronny Howard stands up to big bullies better than any other youngster on TV. I've seen Master Howard learn how to do this on "The Andy Griffith Show," where he plays the part of a motherless child. And Sunday night, I watched him learn the lesson all over again on "G.E. Theater" as he played the part of a fatherless child in a musical play called, "Tippy-Top."

Editorials-Opinions

THE DESERT SUN PUBLISHING CO. ESTABLISHED 1927

The Answer Should be Emphatic

Just as important to Palm Springs as the new, neat northern entrance to the city and the current civic improvement campaign set in motion by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to clean up and beautify Palm Canyon Drive, is the appearance of the highways leading into this community. And the city will have the opportunity to have a voice in this matter.

The county now has a program, adopted in 1959, designed to thin out the wall of billboards which make an eye-sore of many a mile of highway crossing the desert in unincorporated territory.

Almost two years ago they put into effect a new zoning law which created M-3 zones wherein no new billboards were to be erected and those now in these proscribed areas, were to disappear in five years. These M-3 zones covered more than two-thirds of the unincorporated areas of the county.

With less than four years to go for the doomed billboards a move is on at present to modify the law. Some supervisors and planners feel that the M-3 zone law is taking in more territory than originally intended. Today supervisors have before them a proposal to establish new M-5 zones in which billboards would be permitted. There would be 30 of these new zones in the county, four of them around Palm Springs.

But before they act, the board wants to know how the cities, which would be affected by the new sign zones, feel about it. So they postponed action until next Jan. 8.

Under the new M-5 plan, these zones to be created by the county, would be approximately a mile in length. Of interest to Palm Springs, are the four zones the board is considering along highways leading into this city. One of them would be at Garnet, another in the stretch of Highways 60-70-99 now known as Billboard Alley between Cabazon and the junction of the Palm Springs road, Highway 111 with the federal highways, and the other two along highways east and south of town.

Under the original M-3 plan, Billboard Alley would become a scenic route and travelers coming into Palm Springs would have an unimpaired view of the desert and the surrounding mountains.

Under the M-5 plan about five miles of the Cabazon-Palm Springs Junction stretch would be scenic and about a mile a concentration of billboards.

This would be a great improvement, to be sure, and it could have another beneficial effect. The very nature of the concentration might deter some of the out-of-door signs. As Tyler Suess, county planner, views it, these new M-5 zones would not be as desirable from an advertising standpoint. But the M-5 zones would control the situation, not cure it.

The California Roadside Council has entered the situation with an appeal to all chambers of commerce in the county to make a stand for the present law and against the easing of the billboard ban, especially in the desert area. It points out that the desert resort area is famous for its character and charm. The one blot on the landscape often deplored by our visitors is the overabundance of signs.

A handsome highway leading into town can be that town's advertisement, the council declares.

Right now, with the program to tidy up and beautify the streets inside Palm Springs, it seems an appropriate time for concerted action to apply these efforts to highways approaching the gateways to the city.

The modern trend, nationwide, is to create as far as possible the impression of a well-ordered, beauty-conscious community by means of handsome approaches.

If, as they propose to do, supervisors and planners ask us how we feel about it, the answer should be immediate and emphatic.

Here's a Point to Ponder

A few years ago a worried citizen wrote a letter to the editor. He wondered if it would not be better to declare a moratorium on sending Christmas cards and to give the money thus saved to some unemployed family. The editor replied by asking a question of his own:

"Which unemployed family would you pick?"

Would it be the one who was laid off by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving where they made the stamps which are placed on Christmas cards? Or the employee laid off by lack of business at the paper mills, or the envelope company, or the ink factory?

The No-Win Policy Is a Wish Fulfill

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Our mistakes, or "accidents," were interpreted by Sigmund Freud as being the outcropping of suppressed desires. This phenomenon occurs in merchants of the No Win Against Russia policy which is being peddled to and through the precincts of intelligentsia.

For example, here are 10 factual errors which appeared in Fred Warner, Neal's "U.S. Foreign Policy and the Soviet Union," which was recently discussed in this column. The following essay on errors was not produced by this prejudiced hand, but by the Library of Congress for a Congressional committee and purloined by me.

1. Neal describes Finland as a country "that had close ties with Nazi Germany" in World War II. But the Finnish-German alliance was the result of the assault by Russia, not the cause of the assault.

2. "War-time promises (by the West) . . . to Moscow . . . proved illusory." One such matter mentioned by Neal is the Montreux Convention governing the Dardanelles in the Black Sea area—but this matter related to Turkey's security, which the Western powers did not care to weaken. As a compromise, President Truman, at Potsdam, proposed internationalization of the Dardanelles, the Danube and the Rhine. Stalin rejected the proposal.

3. "Stalin not only did not aid (but opposed) the Greek Communists" in 1946-48. While Stalin was fuzzy about Greece in 1946, he had a Soviet military mission in Greece by 1948 and was providing guerrilla bases in nearby Soviet satellites. Stalin might have won in Greece, according to Gen. Van Fleet, except for the defection of Tito in Yugoslavia.

4. " . . . American preventive policy—would devastate the entire area of the nation that had attacked us first." Well, why not? Yet in point of fact, the Kennedy Administration has moved away from nuclear retaliation by calling up reservists for limited warfare and by initiating a "counter-force" nuclear policy. This is a plan to hit Soviet bases rather than exclusively to hit Soviet cities.

5. On the test ban agreement Russia has never "taken intransigent positions or indicated an unwillingness to negotiate." Actually, the USSR started nuclear testing while the negotiations were in progress.

6. Neal argues on pp. 33-34 that Russia has been willing, the West unwilling, to negotiate on general and complete disarmament. Yes, the USA has rightly refused to discuss total disarmament without fullproof inspection.

7. " . . . the Soviet position has never rejected partial disarmament." This statement, similar to many others in Neal's publication, seeks to put his own country in the wrong, the enemy country in the right. Neither country has rejected partial disarmament—on its own terms.

8. " . . . we are . . . arming our NATO allies with nuclear weapons" (not excluding West Germany, the Communist "villain" of this cold war phase). The USA still has full control of its nuclear weapons in Europe. Mr. Kennedy says: "I would be extremely reluctant to see West Germany acquire a nuclear capacity of its own."

9. Before 1950, when we started to rearm West Germany, "the Russians had not insisted upon a complete socialization of East Germany . . ." Aside from agriculture, East Germany was nationalized as early as 1948 to the extent that 85-90 per cent of all production was the result of nationalized industries.

10. "Khrushchev has not made preemptory demands" during the Berlin crisis. The dates on which Khrushchev fairly recently and specifically threatened the West on Berlin are: October 18, 1960; June 15, 1961; June 21 and 27, January 6; February 23; June 3, 4, and July 8, 1961.

Why did Neal make such flagrant mistakes, all of them tending to lessen the Soviet threat and tending to persuade American readers and policy-makers to relax and be more accommodating to Russia? While I don't venture a personal opinion, I can guess what Freud would say.

QUOTES

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—Joe Meissner, Republican candidate for the House of Representatives, on the run-off election against his Democratic opponent.

"The line is clearly drawn. The runoff election will afford a clear test between me and my conservative platform and another candidate who stands—as he says—'four-square behind the administration.'"

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

Not all the letters
Wish me well,
Some that I get
Just give me"

*You supply the rhyme.

At this time of year the mail is bulging. Most of the envelopes are filled with best wishes for the season. Pretty pictures of Santa Claus with icicles in his whiskers or Donder and Blitzen, Prancer and Dancer daintily finding firm footing on thin air. When the wife signs the cards, all is well. But when the husband helps out, you're in trouble. You can't make out the signature so don't know who the card is from. Might be somebody you missed.

BUT EVEN at this glad season not every missive expresses the hope that all is well with you and that your correspondent is thinking of you.

Some of those I get intimate that all is not well with me and what my correspondent is thinking of me would cause trouble with the postal inspectors if he wrote THAT in the missive. Like this letter from a man who signed himself S.B.S.

HE CLAIMS to be a former newspaper man who saw the light and is now selling cemetery lots.

"When you expressed delight over a so-called new word two Detroit editors put into the language when they called the theft of an airplane 'skyjacking' you revealed your ignorance," he started out, kindly enough. "You wrote it was a logical word because the plane was stolen in the skyways, not on the highways."

HE WENT ON to say that hijacking had nothing to do with the mere theft of a vehicle on the highways.

"Hijacking is the theft of something already contraband as result of a prior crime. So skyjacking is not the logical projection of an old word. If you pseudo semanticists on newspapers are going to revamp the language, don't do it with spurious words."

And all of the time I thought the guy was going to wish me Merry Christmas.

GEORGE O. WHEELER of the informative Wheeler's Desert Letter, also spent four cents to ask me, via the post office, why I wrote "on the desert" instead of "in the desert."

WELL, I DON'T know. If you're in soft sand I guess you're in the desert. But on a sidewalk, you stay on and don't sink in.

Reminds me of the dim, distant cub days when an old hard-nosed editor used to give me that word I wouldn't use up there at the start of this piece, because I wrote that so-and-so lived "on" 87th street instead of "in" 87th.

Anyway, I'm happy to receive the greetings even if they weren't merry.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: A couple my husband and I have known for many years have recently separated. They are not divorced, but it is being considered. They have small children, so all their friends are hoping for a reconciliation.

As a friendly gesture I suggested we invite this man for dinner. (His wife is out of town.) My husband issued the invitation and the man asked if he could bring a "lady friend." I blew my stack and wanted to call the whole thing off. My husband says I am being narrow-minded and should go through with it because it is rude to withdraw an invitation. I don't know his "lady friend" and don't care to meet her. As far as I am concerned he is still a married man, and I refuse to entertain a married man and his "lady friend" in my home. What is proper?—STRAIGHT-LACED

DEAR STRAIGHT-LACED: You are right. Stick to your principles. If you are among those "hoping for a reconciliation," entertaining the man and his lady friend won't help matters.

DEAR ABBY: I want to know from your readers if they have ever had the same thing said to them that my daughter said to me. She is soon to be 13 and yesterday she shouted she wished she had never been born. Is this natural for girls this age?—MRS. D.

DEAR MRS. D.: It's "natural." Almost all of us have said it. Or thought it. (Haven't you?) But don't take it seriously. It is said in excitement, and will be quickly forgotten.

DEAR ABBY: What can a minister's wife do about all these showers? People don't stop to realize the pastor's wife is the only one in the entire congregation who is invited to all the showers. I can't get a gift for one and not for another. To buy gifts for all would break a rich person. Thank you. —PASTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Take a token gift, or whatever your purse will allow. The folks who invite you must be aware of your financial limitations as well as the social burdens a pastor's wife must bear.

CONFIDENTIAL to "Neal Of Calif.": I do not consider myself a fashion expert, but I predict that this spring there will be much change in ladies' dresses, and little change in men's pockets.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

BOB CONSIDINE:

25 Years Later, Edward Hasn't Changed His Mind

On the 25th anniversary of a thrilling moment in history—the abdication of King Edward VIII, Dec. 11, 1936 — famed reporter Bob Considine sat down with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in their country home outside Paris for a rare interview. Would Windsor give up the throne if he had it to do all over again? Why doesn't he see the royal family now? The Windsors answered these and many other questions about how they live and what they think of their place as the central figures in a great romantic drama. This is the first article of a series.

THE WINDSORS SPEAK—25 YEARS AFTER

PARIS—One quarter of a century ago tonight a handsome 42-year-old Edward VIII picked up a classic document in a make-shift radio studio in Windsor Castle and in a clear voice began reading. "At long last . . ."

A whole world paused, much of it emotionally, to listen to Britain's enormously popular King-Emperor explain why he had that morning at 10:30 at Fort Belvedere signed an instrument of abdication. He could not carry on his heavy burden of office, he said, his voice changing to one of great feeling, without the help of "the woman I love," twice-divorced Wallis Warfield Simpson, Baltimore born. He had been defeated by The Establishment—the church, the royal family, and acorn-tough Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister.

Devoted Jolly Pair

The man who became his Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor, by order of his brother-successor, Bertie, George VI, spent the silver anniversary of that dramatic speech with his duchess at their country place, Moulin de la Tuilerie, a remodeled 17th century mill in the verdant Valley de Chevreuse 20 miles out of Paris.

This reporter, invited to help them observe it, has never seen a more devoted, intelligent, likeable, outspoken, jolly pair.

Their critics should be so happy! In fine physical condition at 67 and 63 (with only the drawback of the duchess' slight ulcer), they work here and at their more formal home in the Bois de Boulogne, carry on a world-wide correspondence, manage their affairs (contrary to popular belief they receive nothing, nor want anything, from the royal family), take care of their four chubby pups (Disraeli, Davy Crockett, Trooper and Imp), feed and water their friends, read, travel, observe.

The still lovely duchess holds steadfastly to the opinion that it was wrong for Edward VIII to abdicate.

"I was against the abdication," she said today, speaking evenly of the event that rocked Britain and the world. "Mrs. Simpson was more against the abdication than anybody. I'm not at all sure it would be different if it happened today. It is out of the question, I think, for anyone with the title of Defender of the Faith to marry a divorced woman. Perhaps if I had been a British girl it might have been more acceptable. The British didn't like Americans very much twenty five years ago, certainly not as much as they came to like us during and after the war."

Would Do It Again

The duke, as trim and dashing as he was in 1936, stuffed a small prepared barrel of tobacco in the bowl of his slender pipe, lighted it as the duchess spoke, and then said seriously:

"If I had it to do over again the same thing would have happened. There would be nothing different."

"We've had a fascinating life together. I had a great life before the abdication, certainly. But this life of ours for the past 25 years together has been simply flawless."

It's not all champagne, which neither of them drink, incidentally. In London two weeks ago they felt forced to call their attorney's attention to an article about them destined to be published impudently. They have become something of authorities on defamation over the years, and were able to nip this particular thrust in the bud.

"Over the long run, the decent English newspapers have been all right," said the duchess, an omnivorous reader of the press. "Who said, 'Old men forget, young men don't know.'"

Then there is the royal family. Once during the weekend, while the duchess was busy with their Christmas cards, I asked the duke if he had called on his niece, Queen Elizabeth II, during his recent London trip. He seemed surprised.

"Oh, no," he said. "I don't see my family any more, really, except of course at coronations and tragedies. I don't see them because they won't see the duchess. Simple as that."

He cocked his ruddy, sandy-haired head quizzically. "Would you see your family if they wouldn't see your wife?" he asked.

The matter of the legend of his income from the crown came up. "I never got a nickel," the duke asserted. "I've heard for years that great story that I inherited my grandmother Queen Alexandra's jewelry. I inherited absolutely nothing. I put in 17 hard years of work for my country and commonwealth. I went straight from Oxford into four years of war, then came out in 1919 and worked until 1936. I'm not even assigned a secretary."

He shrugged, rising above the mood.

If he had taken the duchess' advice, ended their romance and remained on the throne, what changes might he have wrought? It was not a question that caused him deep thought. He had thrashed it out in his mind long ago.

"If I were King?" he repeated, raising an eyebrow. "I don't think I could have done anything differently, really. I would have been bound, as my brother was bound, by the limitations of a constitutional monarchy. A King has no influence in government. My government was all against anything belligerent against Germany or Italy, though I must say that Anthony Eden quarreled with Mussolini and Hitler."

"It takes a King a long time even to partly influence his government. As you get older you can point out to the politicians where they are wrong, wrong from your point of view, that is. But you have no power to disprove of their acts. My father exerted a certain amount of influence at times near the end of his life, but surely not the power to disprove."

Would there always be a British royal family?

The Duke of Windsor thought about that for some time.

May Be the Last

"Always" is a very big word," he said in time, with a smile. "But the way things are going in the world, ours may be the last, one of these years. I remember before the first world war that my family was constantly receiving and returning visits of what we called 'the foreign relations'—Queen Victoria's host of descendants."

"I saw Kaiser Wilhelm II, my father's first cousin, at a shooting party at Sandringham. He could make himself very pleasant, when he wanted to, though a real Prussian. I remember him mostly because that was the day I had my first automobile ride."

"Car Nicholas, another first cousin, visited us eight years before he and his family were murdered. Alphonso XIII of Spain married one of my father's first cousins, and used to come to us for shooting and polo."

Warship Without a Gun

Only Weapons Aboard Supercarrier
Are Mighty Armadas of Aircraft

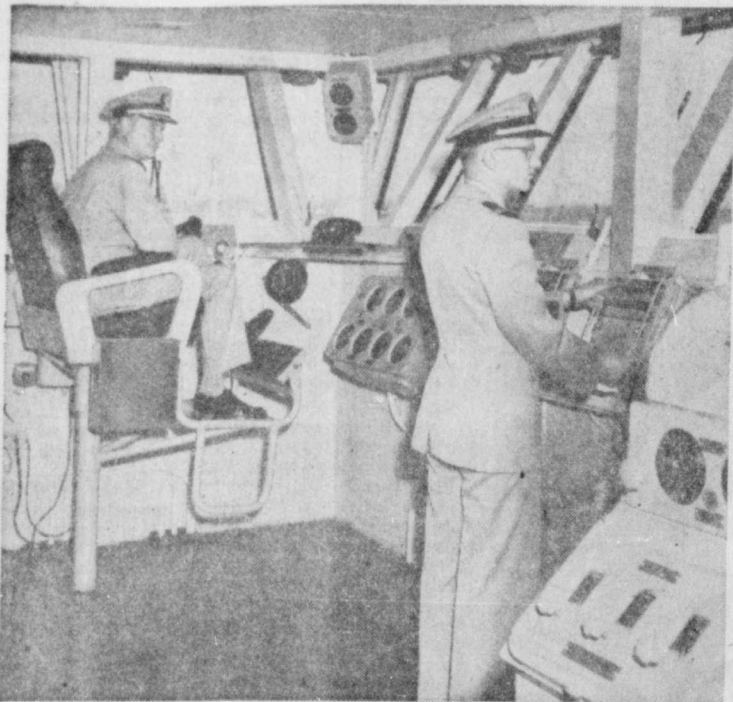

THE LARGEST ship in the world and the most expensive, the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier U.S.S. Enterprise is the newest addition to America's rapidly-growing atomic navy.

A vast, seagoing air base capable of delivering more destructive force in one strike than all the bombs dropped by both sides in World War II, the 1,101-foot supercarrier can travel at speeds above 40 miles an hour. She is propelled by eight powerful "atomic furnaces."

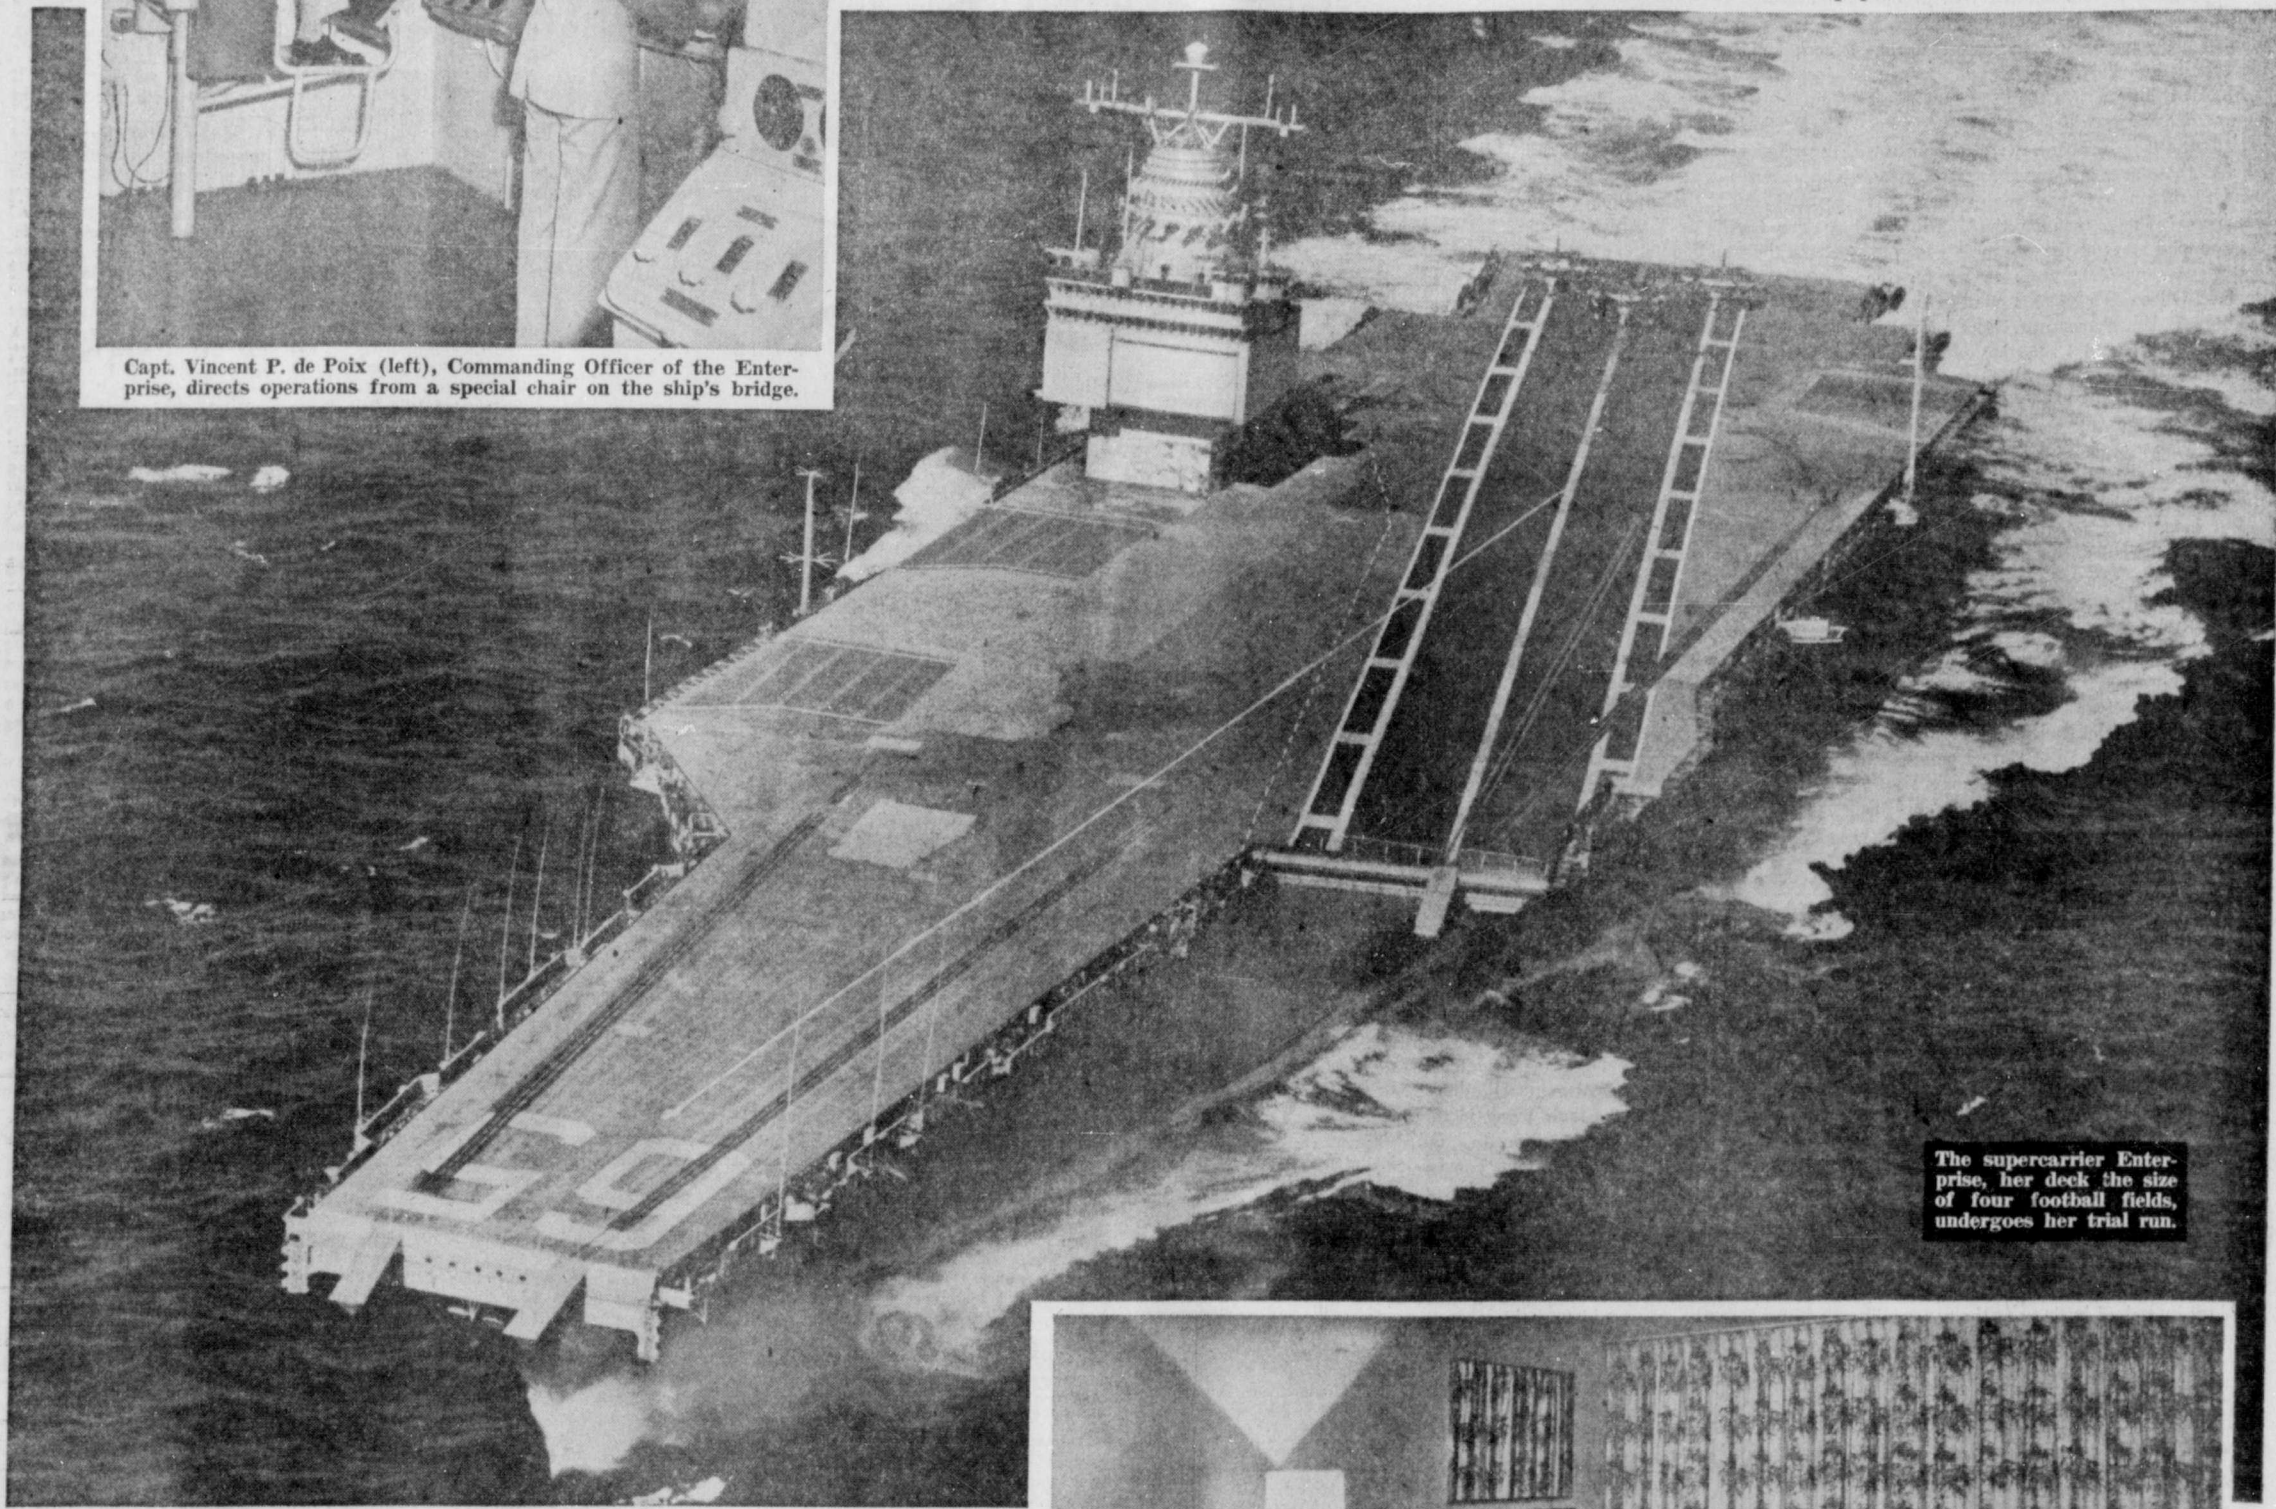

Dependent solely on her vast fleet of more than 100 jet fighters and bombers for attack and defense, the "Big E," complete with aircraft, represents an investment of half a billion dollars. Constructed in record time by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, the carrier is the eighth ship named Enterprise.

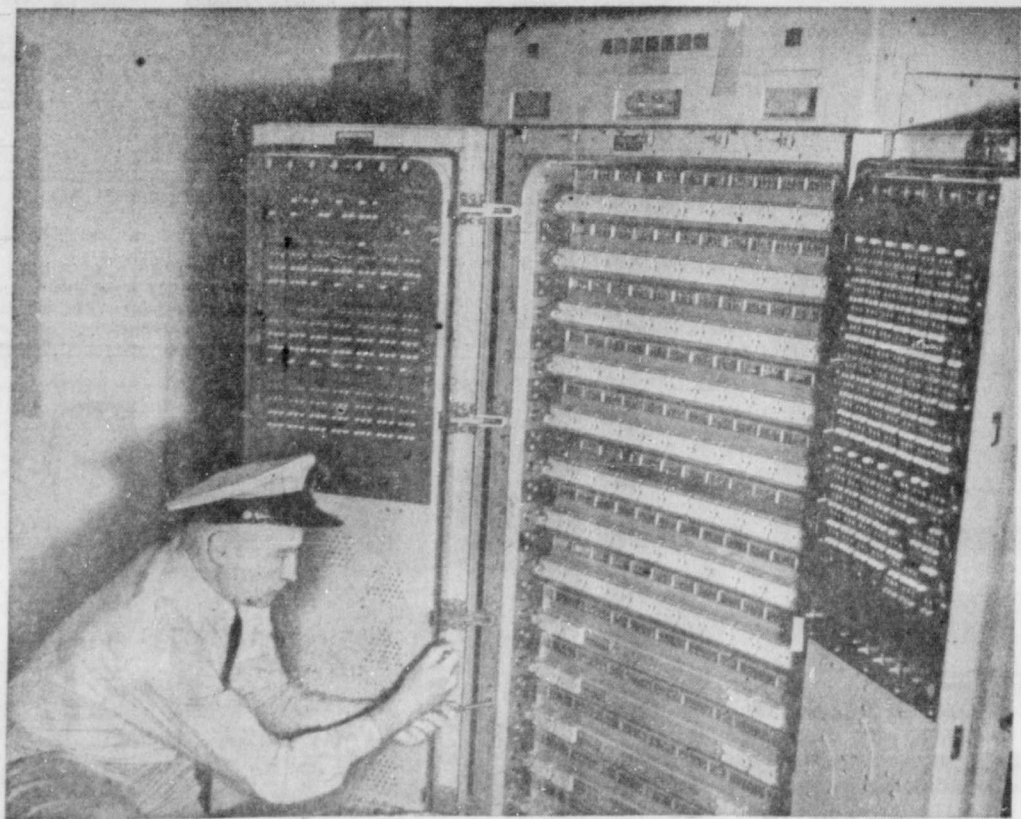

Radarman operates detector-tracker. Enterprise carries greatest concentration of electronic equipment ever assembled aboard a ship.

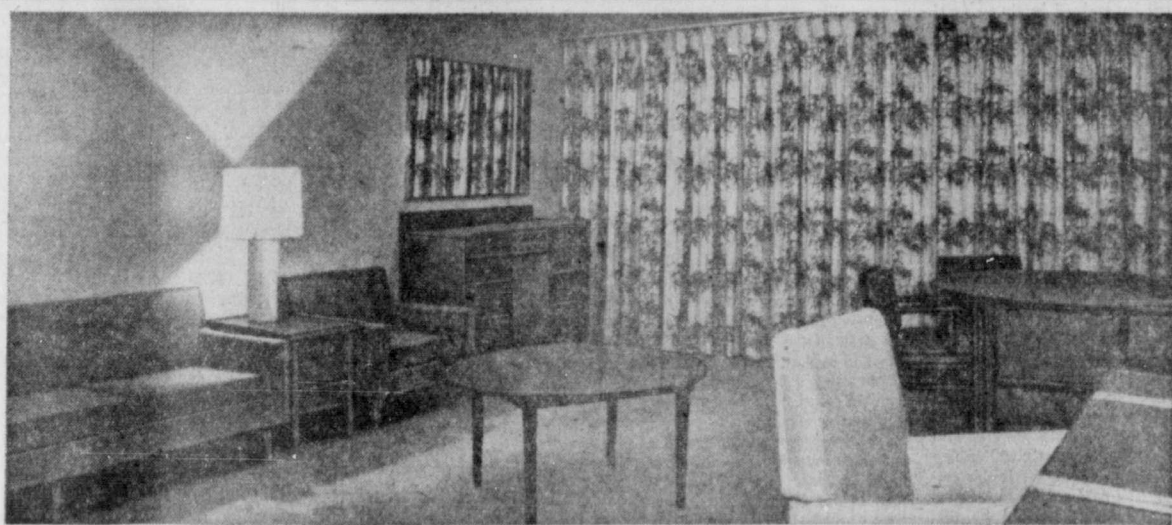

Capt. Vincent P. de Poix (left), Commanding Officer of the Enterprise, directs operations from a special chair on the ship's bridge.

The supercarrier Enterprise, her deck the size of four football fields, undergoes her trial run.

Battery of Univac computers housed in mid-section permits evaluation of enemy threats and recommends counter-moves to ship-board commanders in millionths of second.

The captain's cabin is a comfortably appointed suite—a far cry from the usual austerity of combat vessels.

Officers' wardroom can hold several hundred at a sitting. Almost 14,000 meals are served aboard ship daily.

LOST—Sat. Dec. 9, antique gold snake bracelet. Reward. Phone FI 6-6134

LA QUINTA Country Club's head greenskeeper Merle Lint shows how he and his staff protect the greens from possible frost damage on cold winter mornings, by covering them with colorful orange and white silk parachutes and weighing these down with sandbags. The course is sown in Tifton 328, a new strain of year 'round grass for both greens and fairways.

WINTER GOLF CAPITAL

Challenge of Exciting Golf At La Quinta Country Club

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles highlighting the golf courses which go to make up the "Golf Capital of the World" — Palm Springs.)

The challenge of exciting golf in a magnificent setting is what La Quinta Country Club offers its members and their guests. One of the newer golf courses on the desert, the 18-hole layout opened for the first time on Nov. 13, 1959, and is now in its third season.

Located in a protective cove of the Santa Rosa Mountains, about 18 miles from Palm Springs, La Quinta Country Club boasts some of the most modern innovations in the golfing world.

For instance, there's the new triple-level green on the 11th hole. It is one of only three or four such greens in the entire United States. Even golfers who play the course daily can be fooled by this one, for the cup and pin are moved every few days from one level to another in order to create a greater challenge.

Lakes With Trout
There are four large man-made lakes on the course. Two of them have waterfalls, and the four together provide water hazards on seven of the course's 18 holes. Two of the lakes are stocked with trout, and it's not unusual or golfers and fishermen to be running into each other.

La Quinta is a long course — 6,874 yards — with a par of 72. Many golfers consider it the toughest on the desert, and the most interesting. Yet for duffers, it has its attractions, too. The encircling sawtooth mountains, protection from the wind and longer hours of sunlight make it a spot of breathtaking beauty.

La Quinta's tees, fairways and greens are sown entirely in Tifton 328, a new strain of year 'round carpet-like grass that was developed in Georgia and Florida. With plenty of water (45 million gallons during the month of July alone), the new Tifton is proving readily adaptable to the desert climate.

Greens Are Covered
A fascinating view meets the eyes on the occasional cold mornings during the winter. Then the greens are covered with bright orange and white silk parachutes to prevent any frost damage.

With the contrasting green of the course and purple of the mountains, it's an unforgettable scene.

Much of the beauty of the course must be credited to Merle Lint, the head greenskeeper. He has worked almost without vacation since the course opened in 1959 to create interesting innovations and to give golfers what they like best — a carpet of smooth green grass, closely matted for a true roll of a fast ball.

Golf professional Dick Goekner heads up the activities at La Quinta Country Club, where he also has been on staff since the opening. His capable young assistant is James Slominski.

Vacation headquarters for most of La Quinta's members is the charming nearby La Quinta Hotel. But already there is a community of golf course homes growing up

IT'S DIFFICULT to depict the contours photographically, but this is the new triple-level green on the 11th hole at La Quinta Country Club. Every few days the pin and cup are moved from one level to another, thus providing a more challenging and varying layout for members who play the course daily.

Ohio State Still No. 1 BB Quintet

By JOE SARGIS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Defending national champion Ohio State, picking up additional strength with each victory, today was picked the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team for the third straight week by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

The Buckeyes, who gained the national title a year ago with a perfect score of 30 points, were only two short of that mark this week as 33 of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI board named them No. 1. The other two coaches picked them for second and named Cincinnati No. 1.

The Bearcats, who beat Ohio State in the NCAA finals last season for the Buckeyes' only loss, were second again this week. However, they lost ground in their battle to overtake Ohio State, picking up 304 points compared with 321 a week ago when they trailed by only 20 points.

With points awarded on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th, Kansas State was picked third with 255 points, and Providence fourth with 166 points. Those were the same spots the Wildcats and Friars held last week, but Kansas State widened its margin over Providence to 89 points. Last week the spread was 49 points.

PROVIDENCE DUMPED

Wichita Snaps Bearcat 27-Game Win Streak

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Second-ranked Cincinnati and fourth-ranked Providence, no longer among the unbeaten, offered mute but unmistakable evidence today that the quickest way to ruin a fine basketball reputation is to hit the road.

Both suffered their first defeats of the season Monday night away from home.

The 10th-ranked Wichita Shockers, every bit as good as their nickname, ended Cincinnati's 27-game winning streak with a pulse-thumping 52-51 victory at Wichita, Kan., and De Paul's Blue Demons toppled Providence, 68-63, at Chicago.

Cincinnati had apparent victory all but wrapped up with a 49-46 lead one minute before the final buzzer. Wichita, however, came up with three field goals. Larry Van Eman producing the clincher for the Shockers in the final three seconds after Bearcat guard Larry Shingleton committed an off-

Van Eman and Paul Hogue of Cincinnati shared high scoring honors with 19 points apiece.

Unranked De Paul had to survive a late surge by Providence to roll up its sixth straight triumph.

Four baskets by Ray Flynn and one by John Thompson put Providence ahead by one point five different times in the last four minutes of play. But each time De Paul managed to regain the lead. A pair of free throws by Elgin Dorsey with 1:18 remaining sewed it up for the Blue Demons. Flynn led all scorers with 29 points. Dick Cook paced the winners with 21.

Indians Open Banning BB Tournament

The Palm Springs Indians basketball team will oppose the Fontana quintet in the opening game of the Banning Tournament tomorrow morning at 9.

There are 16 high school teams entered in the double elimination tourney with first round losers dropping into the consolation bracket for their second game.

Coach George Hertzke's courtmen will be taking a 1-2 record into the Banning tourney. The Indians dropped their opener to Eisenhower, but bounced back to cop a win over the Perris Panthers. In their other game, the local five lost a thriller to the Beaumont Cougars.

If the Indians come out on top against Fontana, they will meet the winner of the Savanna-Yuaita game Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Hertzke will continue to stay with a man-to-man defense and will rely heavily on the scoring punch of Tyron Taylor and his rebound men, Gus Walton, Steve Gottlieb and Bill Bradley.

Aparicios's Five Whip FF, 60-29

Aparicio's Construction belted Foster's Freeze, 60-29 last night in the only action played in the City Basketball League at the high school gym.

In the other game scheduled, J. C.'s won by a forfeit over Bonnie's Electric.

In the Aparicio's victory, Charles Jordan collected 25 points to take game honors. He hit eight from the field and hit nine charity tosses from the free throw lane. Willie Davis and W. T. Williams each accounted for 10 markers to tie for runner-up honors. Joe Lew is tallied 10 points for the losing Foster's Freeze quintet.

The teams of Smoke Tree Stables and Aparicio's will play Twenty-Nine Palm Marine's there in the high school gym on Dec. 26 and 28. First game is called at 7:30 p.m.

BOB SMITH, a member of the Eldorado polo team with a six goal rating, makes his home in Half Moon Bay. He is known as one of the longest hitters in Polo today and has been Polo Manager of the San Mateo-Burlingame Polo Club and San Francisco Polo Club. He is Stable Manager of the Eldorado Polo Club.
